GERMAN SPIES
OPERATING IN THREE ZONESRING OF MILLION
BELIEVED BACKED
BY RUSSIANS

BY TOM REEDY

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 30 (AP)—American intelligence officers declared today that agents of the Russian-inspired "Free Germany National Committee"—reported to have about 1,000,000 members—were believed to be engaging in widespread secret operations in the three western zones of Germany.

An official announcement earlier said that 15 Germans arrested in Stuttgart in the break-up of a spy ring had belonged to the "Free Germany" movement, and declared that movement had been started in Stuttgart with the aid of a Russian secret police officer. The announcement said one of the 15 Germans once had worked for the U. S. military government and had given the Russians information on American troop movements. Officers said investigation of the Stuttgart circle's activities was continuing.

Tonight a confused situation arose as to the status of the 15 Germans, and it could not be determined whether they still were in jail.

Charges Up In Air

The legal chief of the Stuttgart military government said formal charges had not been served on them, that they couldn't be charged with espionage, and that intelligence authorities in Frankfurt had ordered suspension of the drafting of charges.

In Frankfurt, Col. C. F. Fritzsche, deputy chief of army intelligence in Europe, said "I don't know anything about it." The counter-intelligence corps chief in Stuttgart said "we have no plans to drop charges against Walter Kazmarek," one of the 15 said to have been the ringleader. The Stuttgart C. I. C. chief refused to say whether charges had been served on the other 14.

The Stuttgart military government legal chief said "the files on the 15 Germans were given us by the counter-intelligence corps, which asked us if we could try them on espionage charges. After study of the files we found that we could not legally charge them with espionage."

"As a result we drafted other charges—I cannot remember what they were—and prepared to proceed with the trial."

"We then received instructions from the counter-intelligence corps in Frankfurt that the drafting of charges was to be suspended until further notice. No charges ever were served on the Germans and cannot be served at present. I assume the Germans still are in jail, but I don't know definitely."

Former Student Is Indicted In Death
Of Ruth McGurk

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 30 (AP)—Charles R. Goodale, 25-year-old former art student, today was indicted by a Plymouth county grand jury on charges of murder in the rape-slaying of Ruth McGurk, 26, red-haired USO hostess.

Climaxing a police investigation that stirred this Cape Cod summer resort region, a 20-man jury returned an indictment after a two-day hearing on the month-old slaying, during which upwards of 20 of the Onset summer colony testified.

FUN AT THE FAIR — Making an appearance after a war-time absence, balloons found favor among young fair-goers this week. The colorful red, yellow and silver added splashes of color to the midway, and frequent explosions were heard when some youngsters brushed their newly-acquired toys against somebody's cigarette.

The Fair will continue today and Sunday. Today has been designated as Queen's day, when eighteen girls from various counties compete for the title of "U. P. State Fair Queen."

GREEK RAIDERS
TAKE 21 LIVESCommunists Are Blamed
For Attacks; Political Meetings Banned

BY L. S. CHAKALES

Athens, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Greek government declared today that 21 persons had been killed in new raids by Communist bands, and the commander of the Greek Gendarmerie charged that "for-eign officers" had participated in recent "guerrilla civil war" in Macedonia.

The two statements were issued as the government banned all political meetings prior to Sunday's plebiscite on the return of the Greek monarchy.

Col. Tsatalos, the Gendarmerie chief, did not identify the "foreign officers," nor foreign insignia which he said was found on uniforms of some captured members of the bands responsible for the outbreaks. He added that the situation in Macedonia was now under control.

A ministry of public order bulletin said Communist bands were responsible for the 21 deaths and also for the kidnapping of 32 persons in Macedonia, Thessaly, and the Peloponnese.

(Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov charged at the Paris peace conference today that Greece was using a "reign of terrorism" to pave the way for the return from exile of King George II. He asserted that "everything is being prepared" for the monarch's return.)

Meanwhile, Buell Maben, chief of the UNRRA mission in Greece, declared 400 UNRRA trucks had been used to take persons to a royalist rally in Athens last night, and that he would protest to the Greek government against unauthorized use of the vehicles. He said he also would protest use of UNRRA trucks by the Greek military for transporting personnel.

Dead War Shipping
Administration Will Become New Agency

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—The War Shipping Administration, which moved approximately 201,000,000 long tons of cargo on its ships during the war, closed shop tonight as a separate government agency.

It will reopen Tuesday as the department of ship operations under the maritime commission with the policy of getting the government "out of the shipping business to the extent permitted by practical aspects and by law."

Great Lakes Strike
Settlement Is Near

Detroit, Aug. 30 (AP)—A complete settlement of the 15-day-old Great Lakes shipping strike appeared in the offering today on the basis of announcements from headquarters of the CIO National Maritime Union.

The union tonight announced an agreement with one of the seven "holdout" firms against which it decided to continue the strike after ceasing its "general" Great Lakes walkout. The NMU said the agreement was reached with the Johnson Transportation Co. of Detroit.

The six unsigned companies operated 23 ships. A NMU spokesman said "we may clear this all up by next week."

The six firms still on the union's strike list, and the number of ships they operate, were the Inland Steel Co., four; Nicholson Transit Co., 10; Brown and Shasta Steamship Co., three; American Steel & Wire Steamship Co., one; Jupiter Steamship Co., one, and Texas Oil Co., four.

Negotiations were underway or scheduled with all except Jupiter and the NMU said additional settlements might be expected momentarily.

Agreements thus far reached with carriers provide for a 48-hour work week at sea and 44 hours in port, compared with a former work week of 56 hours.

An estimated 2,500 seamen on 73 NMU-organized vessels walked out Aug. 15 and the union later claimed that 132 ships and over 5,000 seamen were idle.

Joseph Stack, NMU vice president, told reporters the manning of vessels still struck would become increasingly difficult as the Great Lakes season wanes. He predicted a number of seamen would take jobs elsewhere.

Stack said the settlement on terms of a short work week would form the basis for an NMU organizing drive in the lakes "not next season, but starting right now."

"We are far from finished—we still have a long way to go," he said in emphasizing NMU determination to achieve ultimately a 40-hour week.

Pickets will continue to circle hiring halls operated by the Lake Carriers association, he said, warning seamen away from the 23 vessels still on the strike list.

1,652 Hospitals
Get Streptomycin
For U. S. Civilians

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Civilian Production Administration said today that 1,652 hospitals in the United States will act as depots in the controlled distribution of streptomycin for treatment of civilians.

The program will start September 1.

Each hospital has been allotted a specific quantity of the drug, and has been told from what supplier it may buy its authorized amounts. Streptomycin is used in the treatment of a number of diseases including tuberculosis.

18 GIRLS WILL
VIE FOR TITLE
IN NIGHT SHOWWLS TROUPE PLAYS
MATINEE AND EVENING

Today is Queen's Day at the Upper Peninsula State Fair and no less than 18 beauties from virtually all sections of the peninsula will compete this afternoon for the title of U. P. State Fair queen.

The selection will be announced this evening in front of the grandstand and the queen formally presented.

The program today also will feature the horse pulling contests, annually one of the highlights of the fair program. In addition to the Upper Peninsula contest, open only to teams owned by Upper Peninsula residents, there will be a free-for-all contest, in which U. P. horses will compete with entries from other areas.

The lightweight contests will be held at 10 o'clock this morning in front of the grandstand and the heavyweight contests will be held at one o'clock this afternoon. Both contests will be conducted on the Michigan State College dynamometer in front of the grandstand.

The lightweight contests are for teams weighing under 3,000 pounds and with horses less than 16 hands (64-inches) in height. The heavyweight division is for teams weighing over 3,000 pounds or lighter pairs who may have been barred from the lightweight division because of height requirements.

New Program

There will be a complete change of grandstand programs at the state fair today. The Avery revue and the White Horse Troupe concluded their contracts yesterday and the famed WLS barn dance troupe will take over the entertainment feature this afternoon and evening. The Mack and Bob unit of the WLS group will present a complete program of music, comedy and novelty acts.

The Escanaba municipal band will parade on Ludington street to the state fairgrounds at 7:30 and will present a concert in front of the grandstand from 8:00 p. m. to 8:45 o'clock. The parade of queens will follow and the WLS troupe will present its show. The coronation of the queen and the presentation of gifts will conclude the program.

The WLS troupe will play at the state fair today only and the Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers will present the grandstand feature Sunday afternoon and evening, the closing day of the fair.

Half-Year Plates
Needed By Third Of State Car Owners

Lansing, Aug. 30 (AP)—Nearly one-third of Michigan car owners with half-year licenses have yet to buy their second half plates before Saturday's deadline. Lee C. Richardson, director of the secretary of state's motor vehicle division reported today.

Richardson said branch offices would be open Saturday "until everyone who wants a license is taken care of."

License sales, he reported, have been slow since the annual, and he estimated that 100,000 of the 318,000 half-year plate owners had not bought their second half licenses.

New York Child
Victim In Mystery
Sidewalk Slaying

New York, Aug. 30 (AP)—An eight-year-old girl, Rita Pinta, was mysteriously shot and killed today as she stood talking on the sidewalk with a six-year-old sister.

Police said a small-caliber bullet, presumably from a rifle, struck the child in the neck. Her sister, Mary, ran screaming into the house crying that "a firecracker exploded and Rita is hurt." Rita was dead when her mother, Mrs. Michellina Pinta, reached her.

Shortage Of Parts
Hits Detroit Busses

Detroit, Aug. 30 (AP)—The shortage of automobile parts began interfering with Detroit's public transportation today.

Operations on five major city bus routes were suspended with garages running out of parts. The Detroit Street Railways commission said conferences were planned with manufacturers.

Indemnities Sought
From Yugoslavs For
Downing U.S. Planes

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—Undersecretary of State Acheson said today the United States will seek indemnities from Yugoslavia for loss of life and property in two recent attacks on American planes.

He told his news conference that a request for indemnities has not been presented as yet because the state department is awaiting a full report on particulars of the two incidents.

In response to a question, Acheson said he did not know whether Marshal Tito had put in writing his expression of regret that the incidents had occurred and his assurances that they would not be repeated.

He said, however, that the department is urgently attempting to find out whether those promises have been complied with.

Five Americans were killed when an unarmed transport was shot down Aug. 19 by Yugoslav fighters. Occupants of another transport downed on Aug. 9 were released.

Their release coincided with a sharp note from this government. In the course of his conference, Acheson also:

1. Said the Italian government has rejected tentatively a United States request for admission of 25,000 homeless refugees—most of them Jews—now in Austria. He said the Italian government has expressed concern lest supplies this country promised for the refugees would cut into the amount available for the Italians.

2. Reiterated the state department's stand that this country is not interfering in the Greek plebiscite, and that the maneuvers of American warships, including the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt are purely a gesture of goodwill. He told reporters that on missions of that sort the navy comes to the state department for consultations, and declared the ships' itineraries had been worked out together.

3. Announced that this government has been advised by Russia that September 28 has been set for the preliminary five-power telecommunication conference at Moscow. The other participating nations will be China, France, and Britain, and the five together will hold talks preliminary to a later world conference.

4. Disclosed that the United States has expressed hope to Russia and Sweden that any trade pact concluded between the two countries would not conflict with American objectives for world trade expansion on a multilateral non-discriminatory basis.

DETROIT SOLVES
SAFE-CRACKINGSArrest Of 4 Notorious Criminals Clears Up
Burglary Ring

Detroit, Aug. 30 (AP)—The successful execution of "operations safe-crackings," a police plan which resulted in the arrest of four notorious criminals, was believed today to have solved a series of burglaries here netting thousands of dollars.

The arrests, announced by Chief of Detectives William B. Dresden, followed a three-night surveillance of a "mysterious" automobile reported to police by suspicious neighborhood residents.

The automobile, a new model Packard, was specially fitted, police said, for use in safe-cracking jobs. The interior was stripped, leaving only a crate for the passenger's seat and a stool for the driver, permitting ample space to load a safe in the car and open it while enroute.

Armament, including a rifle, automatic pistol and revolver, as well as safe-cracking tools were in the car. Detectives said the revolver has been identified as the gun used to kill a Dearborn patrolman in the Haymarket club on St. Patrick's Day, 1945.

Dresden identified the men, held for investigation of breaking and entering, as:

Chester Kolodziejki, alias Eddie Collins, 49;

Casimir Wilkows, 38;

Bruno Tranki, 38;

Joseph Zawadzki, 46.

Dresden said Kolodziejki was a former companion of Chester Tuttha in the "Lizard Gang" implicated in the smuggling of guns into Marquette branch prison in 1931. A break resulted in which a physician was killed and four convicts killed themselves to escape recapture.

America Butting In
On Greek Affairs,
Molotov Charges

Paris, Aug. 30 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov today charged Britain and the United States with "interference" in Greece, asserting that "we know British troops are there and American warships are on their way," but he failed to block peace conference discussion of the Greek-Albanian border dispute.

A few hours later the Russian claim for $100,000,000 in reparations against Italy was approved by the Italian economic committee, marking the first major accomplishment of the month-old, 21-nation European peace parley.

The stubby, mustached Soviet foreign minister charged before a conference plenary session that Greece was in the grip of a "terrorist" aimed at insuring a royalist victory in Sunday's plebiscite on the return of the monarchy.

He declared that the Greeks sought conference adoption of a resolution recommending that the Big Four examine the Greek-Albanian dispute over Albanian-held Northern Epirus in order to "create nationalistic sentiment inside Greece xxx on the eve of the plebiscite."

PRICE LEVELS
ARE AFFIXED
ON LIVESTOCKNEW BUTCHER SHOP
LISTS WILL COME OUT NEXT WEEK

BY STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—The OPA tonight restored slaughter controls over the meat industry and announced livestock price ceilings of $16.25 per hundredweight on hogs and $20.25 on cattle effective at midnight tomorrow.

OPA also granted meat wholesalers an increased margin of 25 cents a hundred pounds effective when wholesale ceilings are restored September 5.

The ceilings are $2.25 higher on cattle than the price levels of June 30 and $1.40 higher on hogs, but are far below the quotations at Chicago in today's uncontrolled markets.

Ceilings for dressed lamb and mutton will bring to livestock owners $3 per hundred pounds more on choice and good grade lamb than on June 30.

Saving For Shoppers

Butcher shop prices on meat—which will be above the June 30 prices as a result of tonight's action but lower than those at present—will be announced next week and will go into effect September 9.

The ceilings announced tonight are based precisely on the recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

On cattle and calves, each slaughterer's quota is 90 per cent of the amount he killed in 1944. On hogs the new quota is 70 per cent.

This increases the quotas on beef and lowers them on hogs as compared with the quotas which lapsed June 30. The former quotas were 85 per cent on beef and 90 per cent on hogs.

For a more effective war on the black market, all slaughter controls were centered in OPA. Before controls expired June 30, OPA had jurisdiction over only non-federally inspected plants and the agriculture department over federally-inspected plants.

Will Spread Supply

OPA Administrator Paul A. Porter declared the controls will not reduce the total of meat available but will spread the supply more evenly over the country.

The object, his statement said, is to make sure that legitimate slaughterers can get their share of available meat at ceiling prices.

"Conversely, it means that no operator can slaughter a disproportionate amount of livestock," Porter continued. "Every family and every section of the country has its right to a fair share of meat regardless of the source of supply."

He termed the restored slaughter program "a very important step in holding down black market operations," since it provides a check on the source of all meat. Each slaughterer is required to mark his product so it can be traced back to him if it finds its way into the black market.

An OPA spokesman said the prices would follow "explicitly" the higher price recommendations of Secretary of Agriculture Anderson. Those recommendations—amounting to orders—were issued.

The board also favored an increase in the number of prizes for dairy exhibits and is considering the reopening of the livestock exhibits to lower peninsula entries, particularly in beef, swine and sheep departments.

Recommendations for various improvements were received from George McIntyre, dairy specialist; Orville Walker, 4-H club leader; and Grey Knaus, livestock superintendent.

An increase in premiums for some livestock departments also was favored by the board. Emphasis upon grade horses rather than purebred stallions also is favored for future years.

Recommendations for the construction of 4-H club dormitories to house 400 boys and girls, with dining hall in connection, were made.

HOUSING UNITS GOING UP FAST

But Plumbing Work May Delay Completion Of Project

Although better progress is now being made by the Eddy Shipbuilding corporation, Bay City, on the erection of the 26 government housing units here, reluctance on the part of local plumbers to bid on the plumbing work to be done on the steel pre-fabricated homes may delay completion of the project somewhat. However, one plumbing bid has been practically assured, Gus Mathews, government engineer on the project, said yesterday.

In any case, it is doubtful if any of the units will be ready for occupancy much before Thanksgiving although the work could be completed in 30 days if there were no delays and if all the necessary plumbing material was immediately available.

Last week's progress report shows that all the fill and rough grading on the job is 75% completed; concrete footings have been poured and foundation posts and floor framing erected in all the units; wall and roof framing are erected on seven of the units.

Bids have been received for the electrical and painting work and the city will begin installation of gas and water on Sept. 9.

Twenty-three men are employed on the project and more carpenters are needed. Weekly payrolls have been in excess of $1050.

Leave Menominee

Menominee—Miss Abigail Lyon and Mrs. Dayton Beardsley, daughters of the late James F. Lyon, last upper peninsula Civil war veteran, who died a few months ago at the age of 102, have given up residence in Menominee, and the family home at 300 Somerville avenue has been sold. Departure of these members of the Lyon family takes from the city members of one of Menominee's pioneer families. Mr. Lyon came to Menominee with his parents in 1853. Miss Lyon is a former assistant librarian of the Spies Public Library and a year ago resigned her position in Madison, S. D., to return home and assist in the care of her aged father, joining her sisters, Mrs. Beardsley and Mrs. F. L. Dyer here.

Miss Lyon left Wednesday by motor for Mitchell, S. D., where she has taken a position in the Wesleyan University library. Mrs. Beardsley left today for Iron Mountain to spend some time before joining her sister in Mitchell. Mrs. Dyer left the city about a year ago for Davenport, Ia., after the arrival of Miss Lyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoffman have purchased the Lyon home and plan extensive remodeling before occupancy.

State Fair Highlights

PREPSTERS—The gals who comprise the Averettes, dancing troupe which concluded its run at the U. P. State Fair last night, are not veteran troupers but in reality are high school girls with a flair for dancing. They were selected from dancing schools in Chicago and trained by Gertrude and Randolph Avery for the revue. Many of them are only 16 years old and will return to high school after Labor Day.

SOLD OUT—The glib pitchman who had crowds reaching into their pockets for greenbacks to buy plastic graters in front of the exhibition building the first three days of the fair has talked himself out of a job. His sales far exceeded expectations with the result that he was all sold out Thursday night. He told Fair Manager Harold Lindsay that he sold all the grater combinations that he had set aside for the entire six days of the fair, plus his quota for the next two weeks.

DEMONSTRATION—Mrs. Emil Kronquist, Negaunee, judge of the entries in the art department at the fair started a watercolor sketch of the scene from the third floor windows overlooking the midway yesterday and soon had an interested knot of spectators gathered. Other officials of the department are planning to sketch fair scenes, both day and night, in various media before the close of the exposition.

STATE OFFICIAL—Gov. Kelly, Sen. Vandenberg, Ag Commissioner Ely and several other governmental officials who had planned to attend the U. P. State Fair had to change their plans and skip the Escanaba exposition, but State Treasurer D. Hale Brake was on hand Thursday night and yesterday. He said that he was very much impressed with the fair and was glad that the U. P. exposition had been revived this year.

UNUSUAL—A lovely California fuchsia plant in full bloom has attracted considerable interest in the floriculture department in the exhibition building. The plant so delighted one of the officials in the art department that she asked to purchase it. A number of other floral exhibits also have been sold, but will remain on display until the conclusion of the fair.

JUST FOR FUN—The revolving and peep-hole diorama fans in the lobby of the general exhibition building at the fair have periodically been treated to an extra act. The conservation department's Mr. Tinker approaches the stand and straight-facedly (though loudly enough to attract considerable attention) announces that if given room he will show the bear inside. Acting slowly enough to allow a crowd to gather he throws open a little door and permits all to gaze in at the—BARE FLOOR!

MODERN MOTHER—Every afternoon and evening shortly before the big show is scheduled to start in front of the grandstand at the fair grounds a female hound dog walks under the turnstile and takes her place near the fence. She watches the performance and then waddles out with the crowd—waddles because she is in that condition once delicately referred to as "the family way". Folks who have watched her say she comes from Escanaba, but not near the fair grounds, for they saw her several blocks away after one of the shows. From her position in the grass near the fence, the dog watches the show with careful but not enthusiastic attention. It's probably one way of killing time while waiting.

MORE NEXT YEAR—Clarence Hansen, dairy farmer of Wallace

GIRL SCOUT QUEEN—Betty Hruska, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruska, of Nahma, Miss Cranberry, is the Girl Scout queen at the U. P. State Fair queen contest. She has been a Girl Scout for four years.

Miss McLaughlin Dies In Chicago

Miss Katherine McLaughlin, well known former Escanaba resident, died in Chicago Thursday evening, friends here have been advised.

She was born in Escanaba in 1864. She moved to Green Bay as a child, but returned to Escanaba in 1887 to serve as secretary to W. L. Linsley. After his death in 1912, she was transferred to other positions in the C&NW railroad office and was pensioned in July, 1937.

In Menominee county, perched on the rail near his purebred Jerseys in the cattle barn and discussed the possible reasons why more farmers did not exhibit at the fair this year. "Well, it was the war, for one thing," Hansen said. "A lot of the farmers got out of the habit of bringing their animals in. Then it's a lot of work, too. The cost of everything has gone up, including labor and transportation, which means the farmer has to pay more to get his herd to the fair. Next year? Oh, I think there will be more. I know there will be more from my county."

AID FOR ARTISTS—For interested artists, the art department at the fair is making available mimeographed lists of books and reference material on painting and drawing in various media, technique, modeling in clay, plaster casting, papier mache, puppets, marionettes, block printing and design. It was also pointed out that among the exhibitors are several from the Escanaba adult education classes.

DISGRUNTLED—When Henry Hathaway, boss weatherman at the local station, was chided last evening for dropping a vicious shower of rain over the community early last evening, he came back with: "The Fair didn't give me any passes." That rain was heavy. Henry says that .23 of an inch fell in ten minutes at the bureau rain gauge.

Robert Sharp And Sisters Reunited Here On Wednesday

Robert Sharp, son of Clinton Sharp, former Escanaban, joined his sisters here Wednesday at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Louis Amundsen, 713 South 17th street, after arriving a week ago in Seattle, Wash., on his first visit to America.

The Sharps, whose mother is Japanese, were separated in China shortly after the outbreak of the late war, and had not seen each other in several years. Robert and his younger brother, who is visiting in Los Angeles for a short time, worked their way to the United States in some four and a half months from Shanghai aboard an American vessel.

Clinton Sharp, the children's father, is back in Peitaiho, China, with Mrs. Sharp whose health was seriously impaired by the rigors of life in occupied China during the war.

A feature story recounting the war adventures of Robert Sharp will appear in the Daily Press on Sunday.

Exor Noel, Uncle Of Henry Lontagne, Is 101 Years Old

Exor Noel, Niagara, Wis., believed to be Marinette county's oldest resident, observed his 101st birthday quietly Monday in Escanaba where he has been visiting a nephew, Henry Lontagne, the past month. He plans to attend the state fair here and "have a good time."

Noel was born August 26, 1845 near a French community in Quebec, Canada. At the age of 26 he left to seek employment in the United States.

After witnessing the Chicago fire in 1871, he went to Menominee where he became a member of a logging crew. Later he worked on a farm which produced 3,000 bushels of potatoes to feed lumber workers.

Purchasing a team of horses with the money he had saved, Noel went to Michigamme where he worked on a railroad construction job between Champion and L'Anse. Later, he made his home with a widowed sister on a farm near Nadeau. Today, one of his most prized possessions is a pocket watch she gave him. The sister died in 1937.

Only once has he visited his birthplace. That was in 1898, he came to Niagara in 1901 with his sister. For many years, he drove a stage between Anderson Spur, Quinnesec, Iron Mountain and Niagara, meeting trains.

In recent years, Noel has made his home with his grand-nephew Mitchell Lontagne and the latter's wife and children. Noel is in excellent health.

and Mrs. Felix Miljour, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fuhrman and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Norden.

West Ford River School Is Closed

The West Ford River school will be closed this year, and seventh and eighth grade students will be transported to Escanaba, Ralph Peterson, president of the Ford River board of education, announced yesterday. School will resume Wednesday.

Children in the lower grades will go to the Hyde and Ford River Mills schools. The bus will make the rounds 15 minutes earlier this year.

Teachers engaged for the year are Mrs. Gertrude Peterson, Mrs. Ruth Temby and Mrs. Leah Sharkey.

Farm resident deaths from accidents increased 8 per cent over the 1900 figure in 1945.

The Grand Finale

The final two days of the U. P. State Fair may establish new attendance records at the exposition. Thousands of fair patrons from other cities of the peninsula are expected today and tomorrow.
Two complete changes of program are scheduled for the weekend at the grandstand shows. The always popular WLS barn dance troupe will be featured this afternoon and evening and the world famed Jimmie Lynch Death Dodgers will take over the entertainment spotlight Sunday afternoon and evening.

Further indication of the probability of record attendance for the weekend programs at the U. P. Fair is seen in the weather report, predicting rising temperatures. Cold weather severely cut down attendance the opening days of the exposition.

The thousands of persons who have already visited the fair testify to the high quality of the educational exhibits and the entertainment features. Many of them will be back again this weekend for the changes in the grandstand program and, of course, they will bring their friends.
The first postwar purpose Peninsula State Fair is serving a purpose in proving the extensive development of this area in the field of agriculture, in art, in home living and in industry.

Railroads Jammed

ANNOUNCEMENT by ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson that the American railroads face their most serious transportation crisis in 20 years reveals that the nation's postwar reconversion program is now going into high gear.

But there is the threat that some factories will be forced to close down and some crops will overflow storage facilities because of heavy demands that are to be made on the railroads during the fall and winter months. Coupled with the prospect of the heaviest movement of freight in years is the fact that there is a serious shortage of railroad cars. The freight car shortage at present is the most serious since 1922. The shortage rose from 11,663 cars for the week ended July 20 to 20,615 for the week ended Aug. 3, and is expected to reach 75,000 weekly before the fall harvests are completed. The 1922 record for one week was a shortage of 17,000 cars.

During the war, car builders were preoccupied with other work and were able to produce only a negligible amount of equipment. Since V-J day, these manufacturers have been delayed by shortages of steel, lumber and labor, and only recently have been able to get into production on a substantial basis.

Veterans in Politics

RECENT defeat of Rep. Dan R. McGehee, a veteran Mississippi congressman, by a 27-year-old one-armed veteran of World War II can be accepted as a sign that former service men will be taking an active interest in local and national politics in the future.

It was thus after World War I, and there promises to be even greater participation in public affairs by World War II veterans since there are more of them. Veterans will be better organized, too, for there are a number of rival organizations competing for memberships, and there will be few ex-service men who will not belong to one or more of these groups.

The young men who served in World War II have served in all corners of the world. Many of them are enrolling in colleges under the GI bill. Their experiences and training will stand them in good stead for intelligent participation in politics. There is much they can contribute to the public service for they have their own ideas on the course America must follow in the future.

Better Street Lighting

MANY of Escanaba's residential streets are sorely in need of better lighting. Trees have grown tall and large during the passing years, their foliage making many sidewalks as dark as caverns.

Dark streets are a hazard to the public. Pedestrians frequently trip over curbs and bulges in the sidewalks. Although we haven't had such cases in Escanaba of late, dark streets are an encouragement to depraved persons to rob and molest men, women and children.

Improvement of the residential street lighting system is a project that should be given serious consideration as soon as the city is able to undertake its postwar public works projects.

Prefabs on Probation

IT IS encouraging to note that the National Housing Agency, promoting the development of prefabricated houses to help meet the critical housing shortage, is establishing an adequate testing program to protect the public against inferior products.

New types of building materials obviously are needed to supplement lumber and other materials conventionally used in home building. An individual putting his life savings in a new home, however, deserves some assurance that the new materials being offered under a government-supported program are satisfactory for the purpose to which they will be used.

Considerable hope had been indicated that prefabricated houses would develop rapidly in the postwar period but in the first postwar year, production has been very disappointing and the goal has already been reduced by 60 per cent. The program for prefabrication of homes, however, will be spurred next year and the government housing agency expects 600 per cent boost in production. If this is achieved, two out of every five homes built next year would be factory-made. It is obvious then that an adequate testing program must be established to guarantee that the public will receive full value for its money. This is required not only for the protection of the individual home buyers, but for the government itself which will guarantee a substantial part of the mortgages on such homes.

Other Editorial Comments

"HELP WANTED" (Wall Street Journal)

With a few more than 60 million persons employed as of July this year, innumerable enterprises complain of labor shortage. This Census Bureau figure includes 2.6 million in the armed forces, who are not employed in the economic sense. But even if these are excluded, present actual employment, or what passes for employment, is very high. The 60 million are 43 per cent of the total population, compared with a year's average of 38 per cent in good old 1929, when the armed services were statistically negligible. Those services represented less than 2 per cent of population in July last; without counting them the percentage is still higher than that of the last pre-war boom year.

So, by the statistics, we have already realized Secretary Wallace's dream of 60 million jobs. Now the thing is to get people to work at them.

For the fact seems to be that a man or woman can hold a job nowadays without working at it very hard. The preponderance of all the evidence in the many "surveys" that have been made is that productivity per manhour is substantially below earlier peacetime levels. Of course this does not mean that all workers are loafing on the job, but it does mean that some are. Besides that, there is reason to believe that many have not yet found the work that best fits their capacities; also, something probably should be charged against the incompleteness of reconversion; that is, the inadequacy here and there of the tools to work with.

But making all fair allowances, the fact seems to be that jobs are too plentiful to be valued by all workers as highly as they might be. And not only is it rather easy to get another job if the worker or his boss is dissatisfied, but there is always unemployment compensation to fall back upon in case of need. Theoretically, one is not supposed to draw unemployment compensation if work is obtainable. But it must be work suitable to the individual's qualifications and offered at a place of reasonably convenient access. These are loose tests, subject to widely varying interpretations on the part of both job-seekers and local jobless-pay administrators. There are doubtless levels of employment at which the chance of compensation in idleness has no effect upon the individual's disposition to earn his pay; there are other levels where it is unquestionably a demoralizing influence.

WORLD GRANARY (Washington Post)

The unhappy history of the various commodity stabilization boards that have come and gone in the years when the world was coping with the problem of surpluses should be a warning against the dangers of such programs (as the proposed world food board).

Moreover, what is to become of that economy of private enterprise in which prices are determined by free exchange of goods in the market if trade in some of the world's most important export commodities is to come under the dominance of a public agency, such as the proposed food board. The United States is committed to the furtherance of freer trade with a minimum of government interference. And we have used our influence to induce other trading nations to follow our lead. The FAO report suggests that the only alternative to the kind of co-operative program it has recommended would be a "drift back to nationalistic policies leading to economic conflict." To our way of thinking, the FAO plan in its present form would lead to greater regimentation of trade and prevent a return to the kind of unfettered private trading that is the purported goal of policy.

CHICAGO: Please give pronunciation and origin of the name Yosemite, the California national park—F. D.

Answer: The name is lovely when correctly pronounced. Give it four syllables, and accent the second, thus: yoe-SEM-i-tee.

The beautiful region was discovered in 1851 by a Captain Boling who commanded a small force which pursued Chief Tenaya and his warriors. These Indians were of the Yosemite tribe (Yosemite means "grizzly bear"), and the majestic valley, said to be the most beautiful valley in the world, was their stronghold.

St. Paul: Please analyze and pronounce the name of the actor, Laurence Olivier—M. J. T.

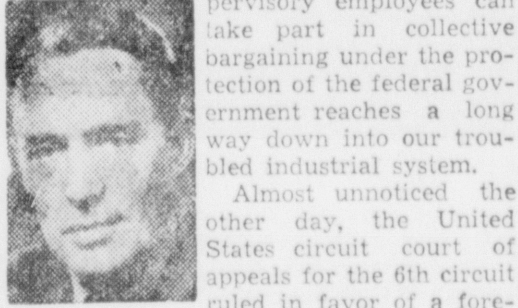

Answer: The name Laurence is from the Latin Laurentius, from laurus, "the laurel tree." Olivier is the French word for "olive tree." The French pronunciation is: aw-lee-vay.

Thus, Mr. Olivier is named for two trees. The first, the laurel, which, traditionally, is used as a crown of victory or of distinction. The second, the olive, has

Washington—One of the bundles waiting on the doorstep when Congress comes back will be the issue of whether foremen are eligible to belong to labor unions under the terms of the Wagner Act. This question of whether supervisory employees can take part in collective bargaining under the protection of the federal government reaches a long way down into our troubled industrial system.

Almost unnoticed the other day, the United States circuit court of appeals for the 6th circuit ruled in favor of a foremen's union. A majority of the three judges on the court held that the Wagner Act does protect foremen in their right to organize.

The 900 foremen at the Packard Motor Car Co. had chosen as their bargaining unit the Foremen's League for Education and Association, which is at least nominally an independent union. The company challenged their bargaining rights but a majority of the three members of the National Labor Relations board upheld the foremen; thus reversing previous board decisions.

The decision of the appeals court was based on the theory that, since the foremen's union is independent, the interest of these supervisory employees will not be identical with that of the rank and file in the big union representing the mass of the workers. But earlier this had been challenged in a dissenting opinion by Gerard D. Reilly, labor board member who has just retired.

NOT COVERED BY ACT—

Reilly expressed his belief that the foremen's union is "not truly independent but rather an organization whose fate is inextricably bound up with the policy of the United Automobile Workers, the CIO union which represents the rank and file employees" in the Packard plant. This is in line with other dissents in which Reilly repeatedly insisted that the labor relations act was not meant to include foremen in its provisions.

The Packard case will, of course, come before the supreme court. It seems almost a certainty that the highest court will approve the decision upholding the right of foremen to organize and bargain collectively under the umbrella of the Wagner Act.

The reasons why this case is being followed so closely are pretty obvious. If top foremen, earning up to $500 a month and with the rights of disciplining and hiring and firing, can be blanketed into a union, the question of divided loyalties would seem to be a real one. Would a foreman owe his allegiance to the union or to management?
In some respects, the issue is even bigger than that. Top executives of the great collectivist units called corporations like to describe themselves as merely paid employees of the stockholders. If this is actually a fact, then perhaps these hired managers are also eligible to form trade unions, and the question of where the controls of ownership lie becomes cloudy and uncertain indeed.

When the government took over the coal mines to end the prolonged strike last spring, Adm. Ben Moreell was designated to negotiate a contract with the United Mine Workers. Along with almost everything else he asked for, John L. Lewis got a provision in the contract including mine foremen. Here there was no question of an independent union. The workers in the mine and the men who supervise them are now members of one and the same union.

—REPRESENT EMPLOYERS—

This is particularly surprising in view of the finding of a panel of the war labor board that declared it is not appropriate for supervisors "who are responsible for discipline, assignment of work, rate adjustments and promotions, who represent the employers in handling grievances of rank and file workers, and who generally represent higher management in dealing with the rank and file workers, to be subject to discipline by a union which is controlled directly or indirectly by the men whom they supervise. The effectiveness of management requires that it have its own uncontrolled agents to represent it in dealing with the rank and file, just as the rank and file are entitled to have their own uncontrolled representatives for dealing with higher management."

Clearly, here is a matter on which congress must pass. In ruling in favor of the foremen, NLRB Chairman Paul M. Herzog said in effect that he felt more or less compelled to take that step in the absence of any declared policy by congress.

Too much turns on this question to permit it to rest on an administrative ruling. If the scope of the unions is to be broadened in this way, then the green light should come from the branch of government elected directly by the people.

long been a symbol of peace and good will. Furthermore, the Latin Laurentius (the French form is Laurent) means "crowned with laurel." Hence, the actor's full name, Laurence Olivier, literally means "an olive tree crowned with laurel."

Q. Please give the correct pronunciation of Mr. Trygve Lie's full name.—O. B.

A. I am indebted to the counselor of the Norwegian embassy, Washington, for the following information about the name of the secretary general of the United Nations:

The U. N. official's surname, Lie, is pronounced exactly like the Anglo-American name, Lee.

The "y" of Trygve is pronounced like the French "u" in "rue, vu." Pursue the lips as if to say "oo" as in food; without changing the lips, try to say "ee" as in feed, thus blending the "oo" and "ee" into a single vowel sound, which in Colby Phonetic Spelling is represented by the symbol: (E).

The vowel sound of the -ve of Trygve is "eh" as in "vet, vest." Say: TR(E)G-veh LEE.

LAKE SUPERIOR—John Keast of 816 North Third street, Marquette, stopped in the other day to inquire about pictures of old ships that may at one time have sailed on Lake Superior.

Dunathan Encouraged by Prof. Chase of Northern Michigan College of Education, Keast is going doggedly ahead compiling information which heretofore has been unrecorded. Example of his work is the discovery of the names of several vessels which plied the waters of the biggest fresh water lake in the world, and have almost passed from the memory of man.

Old records, talks with marine men of an older generation, and a study of newspaper files of the early days has revealed much that has so far escaped publication in later works on Lake Superior history.
"There are only three or four points I want to clear up, and then I will be satisfied," Keast said.

HAS THIS ANSWERS—Keast was shown a facsimile of the front page of the Chicago Tribune of April 10, 1865, which was brought to the office by Charles R. Henderson of Escanaba. An advertisement on that page was of local interest in 1865, and marks a milestone in the marine history of Lake Michigan and Superior.

The ad reads: For Lake Superior, New Route. Goodrich's line of steamers, running in connection with the Peninsular Railway from Escanaba to Marquette. First boat of the season, the fast sailing Steamer Lady Franklin, Capt. S. W. Morgan.

The advertisement states that the steamer will connect at Escanaba with the Peninsular Railway for Marquette, describing it as "the most direct and expeditious route to the mining regions of Lake Superior and the only one yet open."

At that time in the early spring, of course, it was the only route open, because the Straits of Mackinac and the St. Marys river would still be blocked with ice. The Peninsular Railway between Escanaba and Marquette was the first railway connecting major cities in the U. P. and was built before the North Western extended its line to Escanaba from the south.

Keast remembers that in his marine history research he learned that the Lady Franklin went down in Lake Michigan, but he was uninterested because he is confining his study to Lake Superior.

CHILLY BUSINESS—Unseasonably cold weather has been nipping the noses of spectators and chilling the spirits of fair officials so far this week. Accustomed to adversity, the officials at least are bearing up well under the strain.

Spectators, however, do not like to sit through a night show at the grandstand when the temperatures are skating around in the 40's. The performers are a generally uncomplaining lot, but one professional dancer, coming off stage to shiver her scantily clad figure into a coat, observed that "this is the first time I have appeared in the icepades."

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1936

Madrid—Many lay dead and wounded in Madrid tonight after a rebel airplane had bombed the city proper for the first time.

Word has been received of the arrival of Harry W. Broad, Eighth avenue south, at Plymouth, England. He made the voyage aboard the Ile de France.

A daughter was born Saturday at St. Francis hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hayes of Rapid River.

Miss Audrey Ann Herro, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Herro, Third avenue north, was the guest of honor at a party held Monday at her home, on the occasion of her birthday anniversary.

At a ceremony performed here Saturday morning, Miss Alma Simonsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Simonsen, 1007 North 16th street, became the bride of Robert L. Clayton of Escanaba.

20 Years Ago—1926
Antone Loritz, age 63, a resident of this city for the past 41 years, passed away at his home, 304 South 16th street, Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock after an illness of one year.

Raymond Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ford, South 13th street, Matt Lavolette, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lavolette, Third avenue south, and Vernon Giguere, son of Mrs. Dell Giguere, Second avenue south, have left for Milwaukee to resume their studies at St. Francis seminary.

Frank Kroll, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kroll, 1527 Stephenson avenue, was painfully injured Sunday when he was thrown from his bicycle at the corner of Second avenue north and 14th street, after being hit by an automobile driven by Earl Painter of Wells.

Joseph Roshok, Perronville, was admitted to St. Francis hospital Sunday evening suffering from injuries received when the car in which he was riding collided with another machine near Perronville Sunday evening about 8 o'clock.

INDIAN PAINTING—A recent newspaper article on the Burnt Bluff caves and Indian painting aroused the interest of a friend of Cheever Buckbee of Escanaba. Buckbee a few years ago gave his theory concerning the Indian painting to a reporter, and a clipping of that story was submitted to this column by Buckbee's friend.

It is Buckbee's theory that LaSalle's ship, the Griffin, first sailing ship on the Great Lakes, anchored at Big Summer Island rather than Washington Island, as is popularly supposed. From Big Summer members of the party went by canoe to a sandy bay, which Buckbee believes was Sac Bay.

"In support of his theory Mr. Buckbee points out that a French sword was found in that area. He also sees a possible connection between one of the Indian paintings found on the face of Burnt Bluff, and the visit of the traders. The painting is apparently intended as a likeness of an octopus with a fat Indian enmeshed in its tentacles. The octopus was unknown to Indians of this territory, and Mr. Buckbee believes a Mohican Indian of the Atlantic coast, who was with the LaSalle expedition, and familiar with 'devil fish' had something to do with the picture."

PHANTOM ISLAND—An item of interest on connection with the dedication of Isle Royale as a National Park comes from F. Clever Baldi, historian of the University of Michigan. It is that once upon a time maps of Lake Superior showed a phantom island near Isle Royale—an island named Isle Philippeaux which never existed except in the imaginations of the map makers.

Isle Philippeau first appeared on a 1744 map drawn by Nicholas Bellin, royal hydrographer of France. It continued to appear on later maps and was even mentioned in a boundary treaty between the United States and Canada in 1783—which indicates how little was known of the distant Lake Superior country in those days.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, his column will be written by several distinguished guest columnists—Today's by Commodore John D. Small, Administrator, Civilian Production Administration.)

BY JOHN D. SMALL

Washington—One of the most unexpected things that has ever happened to me has been to be invited to write a column for Drew (obfuscation spelled sideways) Pearson. There is no point in my trying to compete with the crack-making expert so I will write about my own field—production—and try to give you a clear picture of the progress industrial America is making back to free enterprise.

Our country's industrial production recovered sharply in June to a new post-war peak and in July production climbed still further to a point higher than our best pre-war year. In August production has steadily increased. The outlook is heartening if nothing occurs to rock the boat, and if production is allowed to continue without interruption for at least the next five or six months.

In the case of many products we are now producing far more than pre-war, and in the case of others we are producing less. Products being produced at high speed are those which do not require the use of scarce materials. Industry is still plagued with shortages created, or intensified, during the widespread labor-management disputes throughout the first half of this year, and these shortages are slowing down production of many things we need the most.

For example, there simply isn't enough sheet steel to go around in spite of the fact that steel is now being produced at a very high rate. As a result, considerably fewer automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, and many other consumer items are being produced. Similar shortages of copper and lumber are also slowing up production.

Rumors crop up every week or so that goods are being withheld from the market, that speculative hoarding on a wide scale is going on. It simply is not true. On the whole, over-all inventories at every level—manufacturer, wholesaler, and retailer—are lower today per dollar sale than they were pre-war.

Every now and then someone starts a rumor that enormous quantities of scarce goods are being exported again—it simply is not true. All the agencies of government that are concerned are watching exports of scarce materials very carefully, and are alert to stop any undue drain that might be harmful to our economy.

Retail sales are continuing at record-breaking high levels. The public is ravenous for the goods it was unable to obtain during the war years. In consequence, retail stores are drained of scarce items as rapidly as they are put on sale.

Take men's suits, for example. The demand is terrific, yet the facts are that in the first six months of 1946 there were produced about 11,500,000 men's suits, plus 3,500,000 separate coats, and 11,000,000 separate pants (a total well above pre-war peak production). The veterans are still having a tough time getting outfitted. The situation would be greatly eased if every man who does not absolutely have to have a new suit would refrain from buying for the next two or three months, and give the veteran a chance to get outfitted for college or a job.

—HOUSING CRISIS—

The desperate need for housing is too well known to need repetition. Many factors are retarding home building. For instance, restrictive codes and ordinances; shortages of skilled labor; lack of a sufficient number of apprentices; rising costs of home building, including both materials and labor; and last, but not least, shortages of materials. OPA has jurisdiction over only the last of these factors.

Ever since V. E.-Day, CPA has been using its powers to increase the supply of building materials. The results are clear. Ever since mid-summer of 1945 the production of building material has been increasing steadily and substantially. If all goes well and building material production continues to increase steadily, shortages of building materials will become less and less a retarding factor in home building and other factors will assume increasing importance.

At present and for some time ahead material shortages will plague us. For this reason the CPA must still continue to hold down non-housing construction. Only those projects that are absolutely essential and non-deferable can be authorized to go ahead. All such projects are reviewed by a CPA committee of unpaid outstanding citizens familiar with local necessities. So that the public is kept informed, a newspaperman sits on each such committee.

Both in this column and elsewhere a lot has been written about the CPA control order. Everyone knows that the veterans need jobs as well as homes. Everyone admits that a certain amount of commercial, industrial and educational construction must go ahead. The $64 question is "how much?"

It would be disastrous if, in our eagerness to build homes for veterans, we wrecked their chances to earn a living. CPA's operation of its construction control order will be guided by the belief that veterans' housing and the minimum essential reconversion of industry and commerce can and must go forward together.

A good sport is a fellow who thinks fun is worth the trouble.

Most people's trouble seems to be that they would like to have things as they want them instead of as they should be.

Just to add a little spice to things, a load of cinnamon arrived at a Southern port.

R. W. NEBEL ON COUNCIL

Munising Man Will Help From New National Guard Units

Munising. — Richard W. Nebel, Munising attorney, was appointed a member of Area No. 6 Council by Governor Kelly to organize and activate the new units of the Michigan National Guard, it was announced Thursday.

Governor Kelly said the area councils would pass upon the recommendation of the unit boards now at work throughout the state reviewing the records of applicants for National Guard commissions, and would select officers for positions in the various National Guard units.

Mr. Nebel expects to be called to a committee meeting on or before September 10 at Houghton. Purpose of the meeting will be to draw plans and form an organization to conform with the new National Guard setup.

There will be a reorganization of the present state troops transferring them to the National Guard setup, which is to be composed of a minimum of 25,000 officers and men. All officers of the new National Guard units are to be World War II veterans, he said. The National Guard unit of Michigan made up the 32nd Division of the last war and were moved out. Completion of the change from state troops to National Guard status is to be made within the next 60 days, he said.

NFL CITED FOR BOND ACTIVITY

Farmers Deserve Credit Says Secretary Of Ass'n

Recognition of activity in the sale of war bonds was received this week by the Cloverland National Farm Loan association whose main office is in Gladstone. Secretary-Treasurer A. Theodore Sohler reports that a citation has been received and that the people of Delta, Marquette, Dickinson, Alger and Menominee counties who bought these bonds are honored by the citation.

Cooperation of National Farm Loan and Production Credit associations and the Farm Credit Administration is also recognized by the U. S. Treasury in a national citation. At the beginning of the war, the entire Farm Credit Administration was "alerted" to bend its efforts toward the promotion of every program aimed at winning the war. Response to this took the form of selling war bonds to farmers and others; and the shaping of loan policies to finance farmers in the production of foods, fibers and other war-needed farm products. These efforts were carried out through thousands of farmers' local credit cooperatives—the National Farm Loan associations and the Production Credit associations. Many associations became authorized agencies. Individual officers of associations in many instances became community leaders of these programs, beyond the limits of their own associations.

Was Aboard One
Doomed Warship
After Another

Among the returning World War II veterans to take up residence in the Manistique area is John Kepsel, recently of Mount Clemens, who has taken over a farm residence four miles east of the city on the River Road.

Kepsel during his service in the navy, was aboard the carrier Bismarck when the ill fated ship blew up killing most of the members of the crew. Kepsel was blown into the water and floated ashore at Saipan. Later he was picked up and taken aboard a ship bound for a hospital. This ship was also sunk. Rescued again, he eventually arrived at a government hospital where his wounds were treated. His injuries were chiefly from shrapnel.

He has recently started a riding school at his farm home.

WOULD CLARIFY
US-2 ROUTING

Would Have South Cedar Designated US-2 Business Route

A move to have South Cedar street designated as US-2 Business Route has been launched by the Schoolcraft-Manistique Chamber of Commerce as a result of a discussion Wednesday evening at the regular meeting of that organization.

Clint Leonard and William Philion representing business interests of South Cedar street appeared before the chamber and discussed the need for directional signs. This change they said was prompted by the large number of tourists who had become confused when they detoured from the highway to enter town and were unable to find the highway again. They advised that signs bearing the legend "US-2 Business Route," be placed along Arbutus avenue, South Cedar street and River street.

The need for flasher type stop signs at the intersection of Maple and Arbutus avenue and at the Chippewa-Deer street intersections was also discussed as was the congested parking problem in the city's east and west side business districts.

The chamber also voted to contact the state legislature regarding a new appropriation for swimmers' icht control. It was reported that the conservation department plans to abandon icht control next season, leaving it to individual property owners unless more funds are made available.

The purchase of 3,500 new county maps was authorized. Continuance of the information bureau through September and possibly October was approved by the chamber's board of directors.

MERCHANTS TO Move To Act On Matters

The meeting has been called for 7:30 o'clock and all retail merchants are urged to be present.

The desire for such an association of retailers has been expressed here frequently during the recent months. Pollen Count Here
Strikes A New High

Manistique's status as a sneezeless area has been seriously threatened. Wednesday's ragweed pollen count on the slide submitted for checkup at Powers, revealed 118 grains of pollen, by far the highest for Manistique this summer.

This comparatively high count, it is said, should be no serious cause for concern as it is still far below that of areas in the south and middle west. Readings of between 300 and 400 are common in the Chicago area during August. Thursday's count here was 58 and Monday's and Tuesday's check ups were zero.

It's FUN TO BOWL AT THE ARCADE ALLEYS

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Accusations of football commercialism in American colleges and universities are being freely bandied about again this fall, creating the annual furore about proselytizing of athletics. The time has come when the colleges should put their cards face up on the table and cut out the hokum that has surrounded a substantial part of college football. It is true that many colleges, perhaps most of them, offer inducements to football stars, either directly or indirectly. Football is big business in American colleges. Many of the schools maintain tremendous athletic plants, with broad programs, and the football profits pay the shot.

RIFLE-PISTOL CLUB FORMED

Bark River Sharpshooters To Hold Meeting Tuesday Night

The Bark River Rifle and Pistol club was reorganized into a Class A club under the sponsorship and aid of the National Rifle association and the director of civilian marksmanship of the war department.

New officers elected are: President, Edwin Bergman; vice president, Oscar R. Olson; secretary, Francis J. Derocher; assistant secretary, Wesley Palmgren; chief instructor, Herman Palmgren; treasurer, John Carlson; and executive officer, Clarence Kleiman. The club will again receive aid from the war department in respect to issues of arms and ammunition. Competition with other clubs is being considered and war department qualification firing will begin after the first of the year. War department surplus arms and ammunition are available for purchase by club members only. Instructions in hunting safety also are planned.

Another meeting of the club will be held 8 o'clock Tuesday night, Sept. 3.

DeVoll To Coach Negaunee Cagers

Negaunee—Clifton H. DeVoll, a graduate of State Teachers college, La Crosse, Wis., has been engaged by the Negaunee school board for the coming year and will coach basketball and track teams and teach physical education classes.

Mr. DeVoll, superintendent, announced today.

Lyle J. Hope, high school coach before he went into the service, has relinquished his right, under the G. I. bill, to return to his job here and has accepted a position as head of the physical education department at Beloit college, Beloit, Wis.

At his own request, Oscar R. Wassberg will coach only the football team and will teach mathematics and geography in the senior high school.

A graduate of the Waukesha, Wis., high school, DeVoll received his B. S. degree from La Crosse Teachers college in June, 1945. At La Crosse he majored in physical education and general science. He also is a graduate of the Mayo Clinic School of Physical Medicine, Rochester, Minn., and attended graduate school at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Actually, what is wrong with a deal by which a youngster with football talent trades off that talent for a college education? The public has long ago accepted and encouraged the practice of providing scholarships to young men and women with talent in music, art, engineering, etc., etc. Well, what about the fellow with talent in football, or basketball, or track? He can use a college education, too, and he has something to offer in exchange for that education.

There is an evil in connection with the subsidizing of college athletes and it is an evil that develops to a considerable degree from the hush-hush that surrounds the recruiting and subsidizing of athletes. Offering scholarships to an athlete is one thing—and offering him the world with a fence around it to seduce him from a school to which he may be already committed is something entirely different.

The spotlight shifts to professional football Sunday when the Chicago Bears meet the New York Giants at Wrigley Field in Chicago. Net proceeds of the game will be given to the Army, Navy and Air Forces relief societies. Joe E. Brown, movie comedian will play the role of master of ceremonies and the all-time All-American football team will be presented. The players who will be on hand for the honor include Don Hutson, Willie Heston, Duke Slater, Red Grange and Jim Thorpe.

Phillies Extend Lead With 4-3 Win Friday Over Giants

New York, Aug. 30 (AP)—Philadelphia's Jim Tabor, Johnny Wyatt and Del Ennis outdistanced the New York Giants to lead the Phillies to a 4-3 victory over the New York Giants.

The victory enabled the Phils to increase their sixth place margin over the losers to two full games. Buddy Kerr, who was honored in a pre-game ceremony by a rosters' delegation among the 18,913 fans, smacked a four-bagger for the Giants.

Wyrostek and Tabor got their homers off Loser Mike Budnick, who faced only four batters in the first inning. Charley Gilbert's infield single drove in another Phil tally in the fourth and Ennis provided what proved the winning margin in the eighth when he lined out his 14th round tripper. Kenny Keltner, a Milwaukee sandlot product, singled over the first two Tribe tallies in the first inning. Manager Lou Boudreau homered with two one base in the second and Keltner homered for the deciding score.

ALL-STAR GAME PROPITS SPLIT

Checks Are Sent To U. P. Charitable Agencies And Institutions

Negaunee—Checks for $100 each representing profits of the All-star football game played in Negaunee on Aug. 17, have been sent to the Holy Family orphanage, Marquette; Good Will Farm, Houghton, and the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children by Oscar E. Wassberg, director.

A final report of receipts and expenses of the game has been compiled by Wassberg and submitted to the city council. The statement was approved by the council, which accepted sponsorship of the event.

The cost of staging an event of this kind for the first time is high as new equipment must be purchased and many expenses accrue that would not be necessary if the game were played every year.

Required Much Work Wassberg directed the game without direct support of any organized athletic group. Arrangements for the game, including selection of players, coaches and officials, and providing of suitable lodging and meals for them, required much work.

The game itself, was an outstanding success. The young men who participated in it received valuable training, made many new friends, received the best of food and were entertained by local groups who endeavored to make their stay in Negaunee as pleasant as possible.

Receipts of the game amounted to $4,548.50 and the total of expenses was $4,248.50. Among the larger items of expense were: Federal amusement tax, $689; referees, $100; coaches, $270; miniature gold footballs, awarded to all players as souvenirs, $116; accident insurance for players, $125; football pants, $100; hotel, $504; meals, $789; traveling expenses for players, $171.23; help on bleachers and snow fence, $200.

Wassberg presented the city with a check for the balance of the proceeds amounting to $908.25. The council accepted his report and authorized the city recorder to issue him a check for $700 as his salary for 3½ months at $200 a month.

Lauded By Council

The aldermen expressed their appreciation to Wassberg for the work he did and for taking the initiative in bringing "such a worthwhile project to our city."

He was encouraged to make every effort to arrange the game for Negaunee next year.

BENDIX TROPHY WON BY MANTZ

Souped-Up Army Fighter Averages 435.6 Miles Per Hour

BY JAMES J. STREBIG Associated Press Aviation Reporter

Cleveland, Aug. 30 (AP)—Paul Mantz, making his fourth try in 12 years, won the Bendix Trophy classic today, pushing his souped-up Army fighter past the National Air Race grandstands four hours 42 minutes and ten seconds after he took off from Van Nuys, Calif., more than 2,000 miles away.

His average speed of 435.6 miles an hour was 153 miles faster than the record established in 1939. The race has been a feature of the National Air Races since 1931.

Mantz, whose home is in Burbank, Calif., finished third in 1938 and 1939. In this race he flew a North American P-51 Mustang, the fastest speedster that has fought in both Europe and Pacific.

Second place went to William F. Eddy of La Jolla, Calif., who averaged 424.9 miles an hour.

Aviatrix Third Jacquelin Cochran, former head of the Wasp and only woman entrant, finished third with an average of 420.8 miles an hour. She and Eddy also flew P-51's.

Mantz was the second plane to come in, trailing about a minute behind Thomas Mayson of Burbank, who had taken off 40 minutes earlier. Mayson averaged 408.6 miles an hour.

Miss Cochran's ship was painted a solid green and bore the number 13 in white. She announced her decision to fly less than 24 hours before the race. She said before the race she did not expect to win, but hoped to be able to turn over some prize money to a military aid organization.

Well ahead of the conventional-powered planes was a jet-propelled Army Air Force P-80 Shooting Star, piloted by Col.

Cleveland, Aug. 30 (AP)—Ben F. Franklin, general manager of the National Air Races, said late tonight an error in transmission of starting times in the Bendix Trophy race resulted in a change in the second, third and fourth place positions, with Jacqueline Cochran officially finishing second.

Officials originally announced William F. Eddy of La Jolla, Calif., as second place in the cross-country dash from Van Nuys, Calif., won by Paul Mantz of Burbank, Calif., and Miss Cochran as third.

Franklin said the third and fourth places would be decided officially tomorrow when a check also will be made of the time and speed of other entrants. Thomas Mayson, also of Burbank, originally was given fourth place.
